The Strike Extending.

It is Now Believed to Be Growing Serious.

VANDERBILT'S ROADS INVOLVED

A Conference of the Leaders in the Knights of Labor in New York Decide That the Questions at Issue Are Very Important Ones—State of Affairs Along the Line.

NEW YORK. Aug. 21.—The conference of the labor leaders, which was begun in the St. Cloud hotel Tuesday evening, was resumed yesterday. Grand Master Sargent, of the Brotherhood of Firemen; Grand Master Sweeney, of the Switchmen's association; Chairman Howard, of the Brotherhood of Railway Conductors, and Grand Master Wilkeson, of the Trainmen's association, came together in the Grand Union hotel, where they are staying, and at about noon o'clock joined Messrs. Powderly, Hayes, Holland and Wilkeson, of the executive board of the Knights of Labor, in their rooms.

The conference began at 10 o'clock. Grand Master Sargent by consent was chosen to act as spokesman for the party. He said before the meeting convened: "There is little apprehension on the part of the public regarding the powers of this conference. Myself and three colleagues, Messrs. Sweeny, Wilkeson and Howard, are members of the supreme council of the Federation of Railway Employees, but as there are twelve members in the council, and as we are but four, we have no authority to order a strike of our men. All we can do is to report the result of our deliberations to the executive board of the Knights of Labor and to a full committee of our supreme council of which I am chairman, and the full committee can then act upon the report. The other eight members of the council are within easy reach, and I can get them together very quickly if it becomes necessary."

I might add that we are once more reviewing the entire evidence submitted to us for adjudication; but just how long the conference may last I can not just say at the moment."

At 11 o'clock T. V. Powderly, accompanied by Mr. Devlin, left the consultation room at the St. Cloud hotel and went to the private office of Mr. Tonsey, general manager of the New York Central road, where they met that gentleman, and remained in conference with him until noon. When Messrs. Powderly and Devlin left the office they seemed well pleased with the result of their visit. Mr. Powderly said he could tell nothing for publication until he had first conferred with his colleagues. Both gentlemen returned to the St. Cloud hotel.

Mr. Tonsey said that his callers had come with the object of arbitrating, and he told them there was nothing to arbitrate; but he talked the matter of the strike over with them very fully. The interview was a source of satisfaction to both sides.

Messrs. Tonsey, Webb and Voorhees afterward held a conference, at which the interview with the knights was fully discussed, but no more information was made public.

Grand Master Sargent, president of the council and chief of the Firemen's association, last night ordered a meeting of the supreme council on Saturday morning at Terre Haute, Ind., for the consideration of the strike on the New York Central. Whether the movement is that the council must meet before a general strike can be ordered, or whether no strike will be declared at all, remains to be seen.

Mr. Powderly said that the strike was no longer one of the local assembly, but of the whole Knights of Labor organization. They would use every resource in the power of the Federation of Railway Employees; it was intimated, all along the Vanderbilt system.

It is now considered likely that a general strike on the Vanderbilt road will be declared in a few hours.

F. P. Sargent, chief of the Federation of Railway Employees, said to a reporter: "There will be no general strike begun in a hurry. If it should be ordered the public will get ample notice of it. The newspapers will have plenty of time to announce the fact. We are going very slowly, for important interests are at stake, and deliberate action is necessary. We (the four delegates from the supreme council of the Federation of Railway Employees) came here on the invitation of Mr. Powderly, and are going over the whole matter carefully. The discharged men are being examined by us, and the matter will be fully investigated before anything is done."

At 5:30 in the afternoon, Mr. Powderly called on Vice President Webb. He asked Mr. Webb to permit an investigation as to the difficulty between the New York Central and the men. Mr. Powderly said he did not mean arbitration but an investigation.

Mr. Webb said there was nothing to investigate.

Mr. Powderly then went to the St. Cloud hotel to report.

Mr. Sargent at a late hour said the situation looked serious. The supreme council of the Federation, he said, was within an hour's call. To order a general strike, the supreme council, which is composed of three members of each of the organizations forming it, must concur and vote unanimously.

Mr. Powderly says that at the interview Mr. Powderly first requested arbitration, which was refused on the same ground as former similar suggestions. He then proposed a hearing in Mr. Webb's office at which the discharged men should be present. This was rejected as ridiculous. In the course of the interview Mr. Webb told Mr. Powderly that if the road should yield to the demands of the strikers, he would rather be at the head of the Knights of Labor than president of the road, for he could then manage the road much better than in his present position. The interview was an amicable one and terminated pleasantly.

General Master Workman Powderly will to-day issue an appeal to all true Knights of Labor in the employ of the New York Central and Hudson River railroad and upon the Vanderbilt connecting lines. In the document he will state the cause for the strike and the efforts made to obtain a peaceful settlement of the difficulties, and notify each and every member of the intention of the executive board of the Knights of Labor to prosecute the fight against the Central-Hudson Railroad company to the bitter end.

At the same time it's made known that Grand Master Sargent has called a meeting of the supreme council of the Federation of Railway Employees for Saturday, Aug. 23, at 9 a.m., in the city of Terra Haute, Ind. In connection with the stirring events above outlined, Mr. Powderly last night, at the St. Cloud hotel, in this city, gave out the following statement of the interview with Vice President Webb and Superintendent Toucey, of the Central Hudson division:

During the afternoon Mr. Powderly and Mr. Devlin waited upon Mr. Webb in order to give the New York Central every opportunity to bring the strike to an end. They stated that the knights would declare the strike off if the company agreed to submit the cases of the discharged men to the investigation of disinterested outsiders on the understanding that the men should be reinstated to their positions if it was found that there was no cause for their dismissal except that they were Knights of Labor.

Mr. Webb positively refused to agree to this request in the interest of peace. Mr. Powderly asked Mr. Webb, in view of the conflicting statements of men and the company's officials, if he would consent to meet the discharged men and allow him (Mr. Powderly) to question them in Mr. Webb's presence upon the charges of the company against them. Mr. Webb refused to entertain this proposition. Mr. Tonsey, who came into the room during the interview, reiterated the oft-made statement that they would insist upon their right to discharge any of their employees without assigning a reason for doing so, and that they would not admit the right of any labor organization or committee of such organization to intervene in the matter.

Being asked if they took the position that railroad was private property and that neither the employees of the company nor the public had any right to question the actions of the management, they hesitated and at last took refuge in silence, which the representatives of the Knights of Labor vain tried to break. The latter said that if it was the policy of the company to maintain that they wouldn't admit that either the public or employee of the road had any right in the premises, it was useless to waste time or words on the matter and shortly after withdrew.

Upon the return of Messrs. Powderly and Devlin to the St. Cloud hotel, and went to the private office of Mr. Tonsey, general manager of the New York Central road, where they met that gentleman, and remained in conference with him until noon. When Messrs. Powderly and Devlin left the office they seemed well pleased with the result of their visit. Mr. Powderly said he could tell nothing for publication until he had first conferred with his colleagues. Both gentlemen returned to the St. Cloud hotel.

At Buffalo.

BUFFALO, Aug. 21.—The situation in the New York Central yards is about unchanged. Passenger trains are delayed for various reasons. Master Workman Lee, of District Assembly No. 46, which ordered the strike, has been summoned back to New York to attend a meeting there.

OLD COLONY ACCIDENT.

Further Particulars of the Great Rail-road Disaster.

BOSTON, Aug. 21.—Two other victims of the Quincy disaster are added to the list of dead. They are: Miss Ella Bard, aged 22, who died at the Quincy hospital, and Mrs. Abbie Abbott, of Louisville, Ky. The saddest story is told by Judge J. W. Edwards, of Louisville, Ky. He was one of a party of nine ladies, gentlemen and children from Louisville who were north enjoying a vacation. Of the party two are dead, a third is dying, and every member of it was more or less injured.

There were in the party, besides Judge Edwards, Mr. Abbot and wife, Mrs. Oscar Fenley, Mrs. Mary Fenley, and her three little girls and Miss Susie Fenley, all of Louisville. They had intended spending a few days in Boston before going to Saratoga. Mrs. Fenley and her children were to meet Mr. Fenley, the husband, who is a Louisville banker. The latter was coming north to attend the bankers' convention in New York. Judge Edwards is in a bad condition himself. His hands are badly cut and burned.

He stood on the steps of the hospital talking to a few friends the blood trickled down from his hands to the steps. He said that after his escape from the coach through a window he assisted his companions as much as possible until almost fainting from loss of blood. Judge Edwards' clothing from head to foot was covered with blood. The dead members of the judge's party are Mrs. Oscar Fenley, the mother of Mrs. W. R. Abbott, and Elizabeth Fenley, 4 years old.

Inviting the President.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The California congressional delegation, headed by Senator Hearst, called on President Harrison yesterday before he left for Cape May, to extend an invitation to be present at the celebration in San Francisco next month of the fortieth anniversary of the admission of that state into the Union. Representative Morrow tendered the formal invitation, which was engraved on a handsome plate of solid gold. The president made a brief address, expressing his thanks for the invitation and his great desire to visit California. He said that while he would not be able to visit that great state this year, he hoped to do so next year. He remarked that it was a happy coincidence that the invitation to California's anniversary was presented on his birthday, and said it would always be a souvenir of this occasion as well as of the kindness of California.

Census Returns.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The census office yesterday completed the official count of the population of the state of Washington with the exception of two supervisors' districts. The population is 848,504, and it is estimated that the returns from the two districts will increase this to about 846,000. The population of the territory in 1880 was 76,162. Governor Ferry has been notified. The legislature is now in session and it is intended to pass an apportionment bill based upon this count.

Silver Purchases.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—One million three hundred thousand ounces of silver bullion were offered to the directors of the mint yesterday, but only 443,000 ounces were purchased, at the following prices: Fifty thousand ounces at $1.145, 16,000 ounces at $1.1875, 150,000 ounces at $1.20, and 250,000 ounces at $1.2055.

Coming in by Millions.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—As a result of the recent bond circular issued by the treasury department for the redemption of $15,000,000, four and one-half per cent bonds, the offerings yesterday aggregated $1,159,350 at 101 1/2. The department also purchased $14,100 four per cents at 124.

World's Labor Congress.

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—A meeting was held Tuesday night at the rooms of the Personal Rights league to make arrangements for holding a world's labor congress in Chicago during the Columbian exposition of 1893. There were represented the Central Labor union, Combined Trades union, American section of the Socialist Labor party, Cigarmakers' Progressive union, No. 15, Machinists' and Machine Blacksmiths' union, Van Wert's Turn verein, Christian Socialists, Federal Labor union No. 266, Workingmen's Educational society, Turn Verein Frei Heit, Ladies Federal Labor union No. 2703, German section of the Socialist Labor party and Chicago Cloakmakers'. It was decided to issue a call for a congress, the end and scope of which are to be left for future consideration.

Death of Pat Harris.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 21.—Patrick Harris, the well known theater owner and proprietor, died yesterday at Bay Shore, L. I., where he went Sunday last on his arrival from Europe. He had been to Carlisle for his health, and had returned as was believed, much improved. Mr. Harris owned and controlled theaters in Pittsburgh, Washington, Louisville, Cincinnati, Minneapolis, St. Paul and Baltimore.

The following bulletin has been issued:

HEADLINES D. A. 246. / ALBANY, Aug. 20, 1890.

Information obtained here is in contradiction to the assertion by Mr. Webb that he has not discharged any men because they were Knights of Labor and that no assault is being made upon the knights. Fully fifty of the men who are on a strike here testify that for the past month Station Agent Stevens, of the Grand Central depot, New York city, has been informing them that they had better sever their connection with the railroad and that very quickly, as the road intended to get rid of those who belong to the order.

This order was also disseminated among the men by Mr. Hurst, the private secretary of Mr. Voorhees. He sent for head baggagemen and brakeman and informed them less than a week before the strike that it was the intention of the road to break up the order, and that they had better leave it at once and advised others to do the same if they desired to retain their positions. The message was given to at least fifty men.

The following bulletin has been issued:

A Good Crop Report.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 21.—The Journal's Winnipeg special says: The government issued its third crop bulletin yesterday. Average wheat yield will be twenty-five bushels per acre with a total of 20,000,000 bushels. Harvesting is half over and the weather is again fine.

To Repeal the Act.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—A bill to repeal the act incorporating the Maritime Canal company of Nicaragua, was introduced in the house yesterday by Mr. Richardson, of Tennessee by request.

The Most Inspection Bill Passed the House—Several Bills Pass the Senate and Then the Tariff Measure is Taken Up—Other Washington Information.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The house spent most of the morning hour debating the alien labor bill which was finally laid on the table—50 to 27. The bill to pay claims of laborers under the eight-hour law was taken up but went over at the end of the morning hour without action. The house adopted a resolution from the committee on foreign relations calling the president for information concerning the enforcement of the Russian edict against the Jews. The senate bill providing for inspection of meat for export was then taken up and after debate was passed. The lard bill was then debated without final action.

In the senate the Quay resolution providing an order of business was debated. Mr. Spooner moved to refer the resolution and Mr. Hoar's proposed amendments to the committee on rules, but at the end of morning hour the whole subject went over, and the tariff bill was taken up and one page disposed of. The senate concurred in the house amendments to the agricultural college bill and the meat inspection bill. The senate passed senate bill to bridge the Tennessee river at Knoxville, and the house bills to relieve settlers on North Pacific railroad indemnity lands.

Large districts in several sections are in absolute ruin, and the women and children are in the streets crying and wringing their hands in dismay. Fortunately no fires have yet followed, and the streets are impassable and the engines could not be drawn through them.

Many marvelous escapes from death are related. The furious blast which tore the roof from the convent, left the inmates uninjured. When the steeple of St. Mary's church was hurled down upon the house adjoining, it seemed as if the people within were doomed; but they passed through the ordeal unscathed, and similar narrow escapes are reported from various parts of the city.

It will be observed that burglaries go on just the same after having our handsome force of police appointed as they did before. Of course this is not entirely the fault of the officers. We mention the fact simply because one of Marion's able editors wept weekly about burglaries until the police were selected, then lapsed into a long and gentle repose. The burglaries go on.

If we were to accept the editorials of the city press on matters pertaining to the Eighth district politics, we would soon have a pretty mess of matters. At the same time the Commercial Gazette has a story that the handsome Doc Norton is grooming Young for the race. And thus it goes. But Norton isn't in it. He is holding two offices now and is kept busy drawing his salaries.

JULIA WETZEL.

What Nurses Can Do.

Young John Jacob Astor, the greatest match in America, is down here, and is going around under the chaperonage of that social Wellington, Mrs. Parson Stevens. He is generally reported to be a nice boy, with that strong vein of good sense that characterizes most of his family. But these young gentlemen, brought up on Phineas' supper and Klunder's flowers, have a good deal of American grit in them after all. One night last week a small sloop went ashore on the rocks at the foot of the cliff. Although the wind was blowing half a gale, and dinners were in progress at several of the cliff cottages, a flock of young fellows in evening dress appeared and worked like Trojans getting people ashore. That seems to be the way with the gilded youth everywhere. Under the varnish of affectation and imitation comes the real stuff—manliness and courage.—Newport Cor. Boston Transcript.

A Bit of Midsummer Madness.

It has been charged upon the sister republics south of us that they are unduly given to the bloody delights of civil and internal warfare. This seems to be the characteristic of all the American nationalities without exception, with the great republic at the head of the list. A passion for intestine war has become the common heritage of all the American republics. It was once thought that this vice was confined to the tropics, but the bloody infection has seized upon the people from the frozen promontory of Cape Horn to the white belt of the Canadian snows, and civil war will soon become as characteristic of the people of our north temperate zone as of those who live under the vertical sun of the equator. The United States is not likely to shine as an arbitrator and pacificator of the internal or international troubles of its weaker neighbor republics.—New Orleans Picayune.

A Modern Enoch Arden.

Thirty years ago William Henry Parker, a seaman, sailed for Quebec. On the return voyage he was lost overboard and reported as drowned. The other day he turned up at Greenwich searching for his wife. He had been picked up by a Portuguese vessel and carried to South America, where he had been forced to become a pirate. He was engaged in blockade running during the American civil war, and had since been to the gold fields, where he had made his fortune. His wife, who had married again and was the mother of a large family, recognized him instantly. Like his prototype, the laureate's Enoch Arden, he was desirous to cause as little trouble as possible.—London Tit Bits.

A Big Building for Masons.

The new masonic temple in Chicago is to have eighteen stories, and the roof will be 24 feet from the pavement. The ground dimensions will be 170 by 114 feet. The structure will be built principally of steel. What the exterior facing will be is not yet decided. It may be terra cotta, stone or special brick made for this particular building. In any case the exterior will be but a fire-proofing, not bearing any part of the weight of the building.—Philadelphia Ledger.

As a reminiscence of the June races held here, it might be stated that the purse won by Sankey in the 2:28 pace on the last day of the meeting has been paid to the owner of that horse. Upper Sandusky Union: Col. Harry Weaver, one of the prominent citizens of Marion arrived in the city today noon. He says he never saw it rain harder in his life than it did for a few minutes between Harpster and this city. While in this city the Colonel will be a guest of his friend Squir Mang.

In speaking of the popular resort at Hepburn, the Kenton News says: "The season is fast going, but several camping parties are just beginning to think of going to Hepburn for a week. On Thursday a party of Marion and Upper Sandusky young people combined goes in camp for a week and on the same date, Agosta, a small place on the Bee Line, will be represented by about twenty couples. Twenty-seven couples from Forest will be at Hepburn on Wednesday, the 27th, and a gay time is anticipated. The young people making the Upper Sandusky and Marion camping party are doubtless all well known by our young people and will enjoy the visits from them as well as our campers did the visits from them."

Says the Commercial Gazette: Morrow county, Ohio, has fallen 2000 behind in population in the last ten years. This is bad news and starts unpleasant reflections. On the other hand, Franklin county has gained more than 37,000. This gain is principally in the city of Columbus, which added 36,000 to its population between 1880 and 1890. It is the old story of city increase at the expense of the country. But this thing cannot go on forever. From the generous acres must still come, through man's labor, the principal part of the subsistence of the population. The present generation and many to follow will not see many of Ohio's fine old farms deserted. The competition of the cheap lands of the western plains will gradually subside. The people must be fed. The various causes leading to the present agricultural depression will disappear. Farming will pay as well as ever it did, and the occupation continue to be the noblest and most independent of all.

Supposed Infanticide.

Agosta Agitated Over the Exhumed Remains of an Infant Child—An Investigation to Be Made.

An Agosta citizen came to the city Wednesday to inform the officials here of the finding of the body of an infant child near that place. The find was made Thursday of last week, and in the intervening time nothing has been done but discuss the matter about the neighborhood. There is considerable excitement and indignation over the affair, and it was decided to have an investigation.

The particulars of the discovery as near as could be learned are about as follows: On the day above stated a man named Green Miller was out on the farm of Mrs. Cory, about 1½ mile south of Agosta, and when near what is known as Clymen's pond his attention was attracted by an indescribable odor. He thereupon made an investigation, and in searching about found the hand and forearm of a child protruding above the ground. The body was exhumed and was discovered to be partially decomposed. These circumstances were related and the pointing of facts and suppositions with subsequent events, implicated parties who were known in the neighborhood.

W. J. Vanderkinkelstein, who introduced into Australia the rabbits which have been for years the pest and the despair of that vast country, is still living in Melbourne, broken hearted and weary of life because of the anguish which that great mistake has brought him.

A son of Nordenskiold is following in his father's footsteps as an arctic explorer. He is one of those naturalists who have been sent to Spitzbergen recently by Oscar Dickson, the Swedish millionaire, whose large contributions in behalf of arctic discovery have given him a world wide reputation.

Monroe D. Conway, who is at work on a life of Hawthorne, says that Hawthorne originally heard the story of Evangeline related by an Arcadian exile, and intended to weave it into a romance. But he incantiously told the substance of it to one Connelly, who imparted it to Longfellow, with the intimation that the material had come from Hawthorne as a gift.

BURGLARS AGAIN.

Ed. Malloy's Grocery and Saloon Visited Wednesday Night.

The grocery store and saloon of Ed. Malloy, north of the railroads on Main street was burglarized during Wednesday night, or this morning, and a very fair amount of booty was secured. An entrance was gained through a side window toward the rear of the building, by prying open a shutter. An attempt had been made previous to this through the side door, as the lock had been forced, but a heavy bar prevented the opening of the door.

Once inside the building, the safe, which sets against the front window, was visited and the combination successfully worked. The next task, that of securing the vault, or money drawer, was accomplished by prying it out, when it was carried into the alley at the rear of the building and bursted open. From this was taken $130 in cash, some notes and two gold rings. Seventy dollars of the money belonged to Vaughan & Allen, the plumbers, who had placed the amount there for safe keeping.

Mrs. Henry Martin, of Charleston, W. Va., is in the city, the guest of family of T. H. Linsley, on Gurley Hill.

Delaware Gazette: Mrs. W. E. Thomas and sons, of Marion, are visiting N. T. Longwell and family, on north Sandusky street.

Mrs. Kate Hardy is in the city, having stopped off for a short visit with friends while on her return from Alliance to Dayton.

John W. Free and Miss Mona May Porter were united in marriage on Wednesday evening at the residence of John Johnson, Green Camp.

Will Wiant was at LaRue Wednesday evening, attending a party given by Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Lucas, in honor of Miss Carrie Waples of this place.

The Columbus Dispatch remarks that the elopement of the young white woman of Upper Sandusky with a negro cook suggests that love is color blind, at least.

C. W. Lawrence has returned from a trip to Kentucky, where he found farming land that strikes his fancy. Mr. Lawrence will shortly remove to Kentucky.

Jacob Fribley arrived home from his Portland visit Wednesday night. Mrs. Fribley remained with her daughter Mrs. Pennell, to make a more extended visit.

G. W. King left today for Toledo, where he will join Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Barnhart on a trip to the lakes. Mr. and Mrs. Barnhart went up with the Knights Templar party.

C. G. Wiant left today for Columbia City, Ind., where he will attend an entertainment given by Miss Wiant's class in elocution and gymnastics, and will visit a couple days at that place.

One of the large ten-wheel passenger engines on the Big Four hauls fifteen coaches filled with Niagara Falls excursionists from Indianapolis to Galion in eight hours, making thirty stops.

He also expects to have a full supply of pickles for which it will be better to place orders in advance.

An addition to the force is soon to be made in the C. H. V. and T. yards here. The freight trade has become so heavy that a night yard clerk has to be put on. It is not known as yet who will accept the place. More switchmen will also be added to the crew.
